ABOUT MISSION SAN LUIS

Mission San Luis functioned as the capital of the western missions in La Florida from 1656 to 1704. Populated by more than 1400 residents, including one of the most powerful Apalachee chiefs and the Spanish deputy governor, San Luis was one of early Florida's largest colonial outposts. In recognition of its historical significance, San Luis received designation as a National Historic Landmark in 1960. Since that time, the Mission has been the focus of intensive archaeological and historical research, and today is the most thoroughly investigated mission in the southeastern United States.

Join us in exploring native culture and Spanish colonization in the artifact gallery and the meticulously reconstructed village — at special events and throughout the year. Bring a lunch and picnic on the beautiful grounds or shop for unique gifts in the museum store.

Your membership will help us continue the outstanding education programs and research projects at Florida's Apalachee-Spanish Living History Museum. Thank you! ▲
